

A. Description of overall philosophy:

High Expectations: At Akili, we believe that all scholars have the right and the ability to succeed in school. Our educational philosophy is driven by our college preparatory mission. Our philosophy is based on four core values:

1. All scholars can learn.
2. Great teachers and great teaching are essential to scholar academic success.
3. A highly structured, focused, and accountable school culture drives scholar achievement.
4. Data analysis of proven curriculum drives effective instruction.

Special Education Structure: Special Education programs are designed for those scholars who are mentally, physically, socially, and/or emotionally delayed. This type of “delay” signifies an aspect of the child’s overall development (physical, cognitive, and/or scholastic skills), which places him/her behind his/her peers. Due to these special circumstances, these scholars’ needs cannot be met solely within the traditional classroom environment. Special Education programs and services adapt content, teaching methodology, and delivery to meet the appropriate needs of each child. We offer push-in services, where the special education teacher pushes in to the regular education classroom; pull-out services, where the scholar is pulled into a smaller class setting for direct instruction and remediation; and self-contained services, where the scholar functioning significantly below grade level can work on functional living skills and be taught at the appropriate level.

Description of extended school year services:	Identification: Scholars can be identified based on the criteria marked on their current IEPs (regression-recoupment, critical point of instruction – academic and/or behavior/social, self-injurious behavior, excessive absences caused by health conditions, or late entry). The individual student’s data is reviewed, and forms based on criteria checked on each IEP are completed to determine if the scholar qualifies for ESY services. Delivery: When eligible, ESY services are provided on the school campus within our extended school year calendar. The qualifying scholars will receive the additional services based on the ESY IEP. The number of days and hours per day each scholar will receive ESY services are determined at the ESY IEP meeting based on the time needed for the scholar to progress toward acquisition or maintenance of the goal(s) and objectives selected for ESY.
Description of specialized program(s):	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Grades 5-8 Intervention Block: All Akili scholars participate in an intervention block. The 5-8 intervention block is a scheduled time in each grade level’s schedule. During this time, students are grouped based on ability for remediation in needed skills based on literacy levels, as determined by F&P screening. 2. Personalized Learning: All Akili scholars participate in personalized learning. Some classes use computer-based programs for ELA and Math within the classroom as a work station while other classes go to the computer lab for personalized learning time using programs that are grade appropriate for ELA and/or math. 3. Small group instruction and intervention offered in all grades to students who need it based on data analysis.
